

Polls Open Tomorrow

The Library of
The George Washington University

• BALLOTING FOR the ten Student Council offices will start tomorrow at 10:00 a. m., and will continue through Friday night. Representatives of two coalition parties and independent candidates comprise the total of twenty-seven aspirants for Council positions.

Polls will be open in Columbian House tomorrow from 10:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. and from 5:00 p. m. to 7:00 p. m.; Thursday, from 11:30 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. and from 5:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m.; and Friday, from 10:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. and from 5:00 p. m. to 7:00 p. m.

Running for the presidency are Jerome Brastow, Fremont Jewell, and Larry Woodward.

Candidates for vice-president are Dorothy Henry, Jay Johnston, and Jean Maxwell; secretary, Bess Blafkin and Claire Jennings; comptroller, Ted Brehm, John Dwyer, and Ralph Livengood; program director, Lew Hoffacker and Shirley Smith; activities director, Dorothy Caplan, Barbara Hanby, Shully Jackson, and Bill Rockwood; social chairman, George Carter, Tommy Hurst, and Melissa Wilson; advocate, Joseph Blanton and Bill Wendt; publicity director, Bob Burns, Dorothy Baines, and Jacqueline Perry; freshman director, Dwin Craig and Jim Speaks.

Balloting procedure has been announced by Janet Doidge, chairman of the Elections Committee of the Student Council. At the polls on the first floor of Columbian House, students wishing to vote must present a signed activities card and some other form of identification. Each card will be stamped when the student votes. Balloting will be secret, and after ballots are marked they will be kept in a vault until the elections are over.

Returns will be counted Friday at 7:00 p. m., under the supervision of Dr. Fred S. Tupper, associate professor of English. If the tabulation is completed in time, complete results will be announced at Friday's performance of "King Lear."

• ALL CANDIDATES for Student Council offices will present their campaign platforms to the student body in an assembly to be held at 7:00 p. m. tomorrow in Government 101. Presidential candidates will have eight minutes to present their programs; all others will be limited to three minutes. Present Student Council President Larry Strickland will act as chairman of the assembly.

Campaign advertising is limited to that appearing in The Hatchet, and no electioneering will be permitted in Columbian House.

'King Lear' Opens Tomorrow; Orel Leonard Plays Lead Role

• CUE AND CURTAIN's presentation of King Lear, under the direction of Floyd Sparks and Professor Fred Tupper, will open tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in Lisner Auditorium.

The play will be presented for four nights, April 16 through 19. A special student rate of 60 and 90 cents is offered. Two tickets at the special rate may be purchased with each activity card. Telephone reservations are still being accepted.

The role of Lear is played by Orel Leonard who has had stock experience with Mississippi showboats, Washington Players, and theater groups in Cincinnati, Omaha, and Salt Lake City.

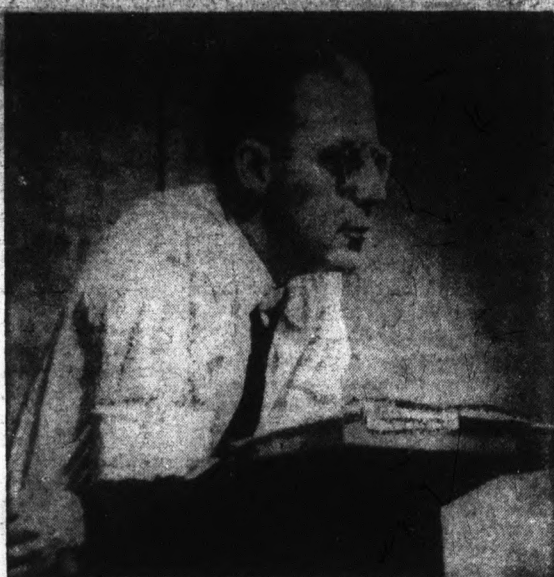

Members of the cast already familiar to University theater-goers include Alan Wakefield, who played in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," and Harold Berger and Bob Cordell, who were seen in "Richard III."

Several members of the cast are appearing for the first time here. Among them, Sam Galloway, Oscar Senft, Judith Clark, and Elaine Hatch have all played in college productions and community theater groups.

Mr. Sparks announced that the usual five acts of the play have been condensed into three acts.

Scenes will be played on a series of platforms at different height levels in four separate stage areas. Scene changes will be handled by blackouts. As soon as one platform scene ends, the spotlights focused on it will change focus and illuminate the next platform.

This division of the stage into four sections has been made possible by the fact that most of Shakespeare's plays' action and dialogue take precedence over the settings and scenery.

• CUE AND CURTAIN Director Floyd L. Sparks watches intently as "King Lear" rehearsal proceeds.

Alumni Association Elects Wetmore As President

• THE UNIVERSITY HAS announced the election of Dr. Alexander Wetmore, secretary of the Smithsonian Institute, as president of the University General Alumni Association.

Dr. Wetmore, who has been associated with the Smithsonian since 1925, received his M. S. in 1916, Ph. D. in 1920, and honorary degree of Doctor of Science in 1932. He is the author of many books on biology and bird life and is former president of the Washington Academy of Science and the Biological Society of Washington. He is a trustee of the University.

This is the first time in the history of the 125-year-old University that officers of the association have been elected by mail ballots. Prior to this, the election has taken place at the annual meeting of the Association.

Vice presidents who have been elected to represent the various schools of the University include the following:

Elmer Louis Kayser, A. B., 1917, M. A., 1918, dean of the Division of University Studies.

William E. Clark of the School of Medicine, M. D., 1904, who is a former president of the District Medical Society and a director of Doctor's Hospital.

Investigation Findings Will Be Presented For Council Action

• IN ITS REPORT to be presented to the Student Council tomorrow at 8:00 p. m. in Room C of Columbian House, The Hatchet Investigation Committee has declined to pass judgment on the paper except to say that it is "fairly good."

In refusing to pass upon the charges brought against The Hatchet, the committee said,

Clubs Present Spring Dance And Concert

• CLIMAXING THE season, the Combined Glee Clubs will present their annual spring concert and dance on May 1. The concert, under the direction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon, will be held in the new ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel.

The program will be opened by the Combined Clubs singing "Onward Ye People," by Sibelius. The Men's Glee Club will sing "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," by Bach; "Finale Secondo-La Forza Del Destino," by Verdi; "Tell Me Why," Traditional; and "On the Sea," by Buck.

The Women's Glee Club will sing "Pueri Hebraeorum," by Thompson; "The Spirit Flower," by Tipton-Campbell; "List the Cherubic Host," by Gaul; and "The Wind's in the South," by Scott.

In conclusion, the Combined Clubs will sing "Lovely Appear," by Gounod; "Begin the Beguine," by Porter; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach; and "Kamenoi Ostrow," by Rubenstein. "Kamenoi Ostrow" traditionally is used as the closing number of the spring concerts, and all Glee Club alumni present are invited to the stage to join the Club in singing it.

Following the program, a dance cert. is open to the public.

Marvin Addresses Alumni Gathering

• PRESIDENT CLOYD H. MARVIN will be principal speaker and guest of honor at a dinner meeting of the University's New York Alumni Club Thursday at 7 p. m. at the Netherlands Club, New York City, where he will discuss a $30,000,000 University expansion program which he has developed.

"As to such charges as 'lying' and 'deliberate falsification of facts in a news story and deliberate changing of quoted material in order to create a sensational issue'—how is this committee to pass judgment? . . . This committee is not a court of law, its hearings were not under oath . . . the committee, taking the charitable view, can only hope that all the witnesses sincerely believed themselves to be telling the truth."

Two conclusions which the committee reached were that if the paper were all that it should be, and if the system under which it is prepared and published were sound, the demand for an investigation would not have arisen.

That The Hatchet must remain free and independent was the first principle of procedure laid down in the report. The committee said, however, that freedom and independence should not be confused with license or irresponsibility.

Concerning Hatchet organization, the committee made three major recommendations. First was that no student below the grade of sophomore be eligible for the senior staff.

An editor-in-chief, aided by two associate editors and a managing editor, was suggested in order to place the responsibility for editorial (See INVESTIGATION, Page 5)

Reverend Sheerin Delivers Address

• AT THE WEEKLY CHAPEL service this Friday from 12:30 to 1:30 in the sanctuary of Western Church, 1906 H Street, N.W., the Rev. Charles Wilford Sheerin of the Church of the Epiphany will speak. Following the service, lunch will be served in the dining hall of the church.

A chapel choir is being formed by interested students. Any persons who wish to participate should call Marjorie Hensley, GEorgia 6593.

University Band Presents Concert

• MODERN AND classical work will be presented at the University Band concert Friday evening, May 9, in Lisner Auditorium, Leon Bruiloff, director of the band, announced.

Members of the University Glee Club, under the direction of Dr. Robert Harmon, will be guests at the concert and will present several numbers.

The concert plans to feature several soloists and a girl piano soloist is needed. Anyone who is interested should contact Leon Bruiloff at Lisner Auditorium. The organization is also in need of good woodwind players.

New Chapter—Old Book

• COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES throughout the nation are right now under fire from various groups who are extremely alarmed at the apparent lack of interest of the public in national affairs.

Higher institutions of learning are particularly the target of attack, for it is felt that schools and colleges fail to give students even a rudimentary knowledge of workings of their government, and by so doing fail to arouse an interest in public affairs.

Brought down to the campus of this University, those groups could have a field day in proving their convictions. The fact that only one-third of the eligible voting population of this country votes in national elections is an understandable conclusion when one looks through the records and finds that the largest number of students to vote in a Student Council election here was something like 1,300. This figure decreases proportionately, depending upon the enrollment of the University.

Last year, about 1,050 students voted out of an estimated total enrollment of 7,000. This means that only 14 per cent of the students here were interested in who controlled their fortunes the following year.

When it is considered that each year college graduates take their place in a new society, the lack of interest in national affairs is feasible and easily traced back to their limited college background.

Something is wrong with a form of education which allows or fosters this situation.

Part of this blame lies with an administration which is not particularly addicted to open political organizations or constant open political discussions on the campus.

But much of the blame lies with the student body and the Student Councils themselves, who, by their small vote and by their emphasis on personalities rather than issues, are in no position to either suggest or demand that they be allowed more freedom as citizens, rather than students.

Locked-up elections such as we have seen leave no room for the students at the University to voice their opinions on controversial issues; and there are plenty of them, though many refuse to take their heads out of the sand and recognize them.

We agree that the public is more interested in issues rather than candidates, but the election system and student apathy in elections makes a Council-elect virtual followers of their own and no one else's dictates.

Tomorrow, the students will go to the polls once again to elect their representatives for the following year. There are many vital and volatile issues confronting the student body. If the University is right now at the crossroads, the student body is just as much so.

Tomorrow, Thursday, and Friday, students will have a chance to elect people whose views are expressed in platforms which many of them have issued.

Forget the tub-thumping and the wild promises. Disregard the claims of all sides that the other sides are liars, thieves, radicals, reactionaries, or other such nonsense.

Judge as best you can, either from personal contact with the candidates, their qualifications, or from what they purport to express, and then vote.

But, above all, get out and vote. Here is your chance to elect those whom you think will best serve the interests and aims of the student body.

Practice it now. In five or ten years your vote may be as important to the people of the nation as it is now to the welfare of this student body.

Operations Subsistence Students As Citizens

By BOB BIALEK

• THE PRICE OF a good sandwich and a cup of coffee is something which the veterans on campus probably have considered more carefully than many a detail in their textbooks. The steady drugstore diet to which most veterans are consigned is, to say the least, thought-provoking, even though it may not provide the kind of food customarily necessary for thought.

In short—the cost of living has simply outstripped veterans' benefits.

But it is now evident that relief is in sight. Congress is now considering a number of measures to increase the monthly subsistence allowance of ex-GI's in school, and that subsistence issue is coming to a head.

One of the major factors responsible for this Congressional action has been persistent student activity and reaction from all parts of the country. Many members of Congress were not even aware of the true picture on campuses until delegations of students began visiting them.

A House Veterans Affairs Committee is scheduled to vote Friday on the Rogers Bill, HR 870, which would grant an increase of $35 to married and single vets in school, plus $10 for each dependent. That Committee consists of Chairman Ramey, (R. Ohio), Reps. Meade (R. Ky.), Ross (R. N. Y.), Lusk (D. N. M.), and Wheeler (D. Ga.).

Because of the special nature of vet legislation, these sub-committee votes are especially important.

Veterans of this campus should provide to the Congress facts and figures to back the flood of letters descending on it. Letters from veterans, presenting their own situation and experiences, are of vital importance in influencing the decisions of the Congressional Committee.

And certainly, those of us who are able to feast amid relative plenty at the family table, seven days a week, should lend moral support to the veterans' demand for increased subsistence.

Bigger and Better

• READERS OF THE Hatchet may wonder from week to week why the paper has fluctuated so greatly in its size, from 8 to 24 pages. We feel that we owe some explanation for this unusual conduct.

As originally planned, The Hatchet budget called for 28 issues of the paper of 8 pages each and 4 issues of 12 pages each. However, circumstances this year have made it virtually impossible for us to limit the size of the paper to 8 pages.

First, the advertising boom has hit The Hatchet full force and the volume of advertising carried demands enlargement of the paper.

Second, The Hatchet deemed it necessary to give full and complete details to the student body on the investigation proceedings of the past month. The verbatim report consumed 12 pages alone.

Third, increased student activities, particularly in athletics, call for more space in order to have full and accurate news coverage of all organizations.

All these factors have forced us to arbitrarily increase the size, and depending upon the volume and importance of news each week, we will continue to give the student body the best service possible.

Letter to the Editors

Dear Editors:

It is rumored that a campus election will be held soon. A rather good job has been done though, in seeing that this rumor does not circulate too widely and a number of students to whom I have spoken in the past several days are still completely unaware of any such possible event.

If there is any truth to this rumor it would seem that those who are responsible for controlling such elections really have done a terrific job of controlling them. Even Hitler could have taken a lesson from them. There are no posters in sight on the campus to let anyone know who the candidates are, if any. There are no circulars to arouse the interest of a so-called uninterested student body. How they are to become interested and aware of what occurs with such a plethora of quietness is the $64 question.

If there are to be student elections it is about time that they were open affairs in which information is not suppressed but encouraged. We have heard complaints of recent controlled elections in Poland—let's do something about controlled elections here. Democracy does not thrive on denying freedom of information—a full democracy demands the greatest dissemination possible of the truth. Let us see that this is the last student election which is cloaked in darkness.

Yours sincerely,

John E. McNab

• WHEN THE STUDENT Council candidates present their speeches, it is hoped that all candidates will stand up and speak of words which, when used in connection with this campus and its activities, seem to provoke unusual responses. They are anathema in some quarters. These words are "political" and "propaganda." There seems to be a taboo at the University on propaganda and things political, as if, like the proverbial pre-war ostrich, you can duck your head and avoid these horrid concepts. But let's stop for a minute; what is not political and what is not propaganda? Where is the demarcation line?

The answers to these questions aren't clear, but the results are all too apparent. The underlying factor in many areas of student activity at the University is that before you can express opinions on certain issues, the right to express that opinion must first be established within the limits of the campus. Too often, we find ourselves discussing the right to express an idea instead of discussing the idea itself.

Students Interested In Politics

The basic role of a university is to educate for life through curricular and extra-curricular activities. Politics is the stuff of community life. Why is an instructor's analysis of peace, prosperity, or freedom any less political than a student's? Admittedly, the faculty member has a greater fund of information, but unless he is something more than human, the faculty member has his bias. What he gives us in lectures, then, is certainly political insofar as it will influence our future thoughts.

The student is vitally interested in legislation concerning such things as price and rent increases, or, for the vet, the proposed bills affecting his income. In other words, many of the student's day-to-day problems are inevitably tied up with "politics." Not to express himself on such questions is in itself a political act analogous to abstaining from voting. If we're going to be political one way or another anyhow, let's admit it and have only limitations imposed by the students themselves.

In addition to general problems, the student community has its own peculiar problems. It may be rising tuition. It may be the desire for curriculum changes (student pressure at the University resulted in the re-establishment of the Sociology Department). It may be threats to the freedom of campus press, or the threat of expulsion for expressing views unpalatable to a college administration, or the existence of quota systems for med schools based on false ideas of race.

"Rule Six" Outmoded

What stands in the way of talking about these things? The archaic regulation known as Rule Six (Page 26, Student Handbook) states that, with a few exceptions, non-University organizations cannot be recognized on campus. But administration and faculty members enjoy the right of association through their respective national, regional, and local organizations which speak for their special interests and serve as a medium for exchanges of ideas. What is so peculiar about students that they are to be denied this right? In the case of at least one local branch of a national organization that declined to disagree with protocol, even the use of bulletin boards was denied (this particular repression of information has been called a beaverboard curtain. Our classrooms and bulletin boards should be open to all activities which interest students.

There are many other schools, large and small, which treat their student bodies more like adults and allow them a greater amount of academic freedom. It doesn't take a large endowment to allow students to participate in the world around them.

Colleges Are Important Cogs

Many students realize that their school is not divorced from the society in which it exists. The most notable aspect of the enforced abdication of Herr Talmadge from his KKK-acquired throne was that STUDENTS from Georgia colleges led the popular assault against him.

Our student body contains many people of voting age. A large number are veterans. They, as all college students, are certainly entitled to freedom of assembly on campus, and to form any organization of students they deem fit. Responsibility for our deficiency in national voting has been laid to the lack of political stimulation in school. It is hoped that the next council will consider this problem with a view toward taking constructive action.

University Adds Ten Professors; Medical School Gains Four

• DR. JAMES ASH, former director of the Army Institute of Pathology, is one of ten men recently appointed to the faculty of the University.

A veteran of 30 years' service in the Army Medical Corps, Dr. Ash received his education at the University of Pennsylvania, and the Army Medical School. He will conduct classes on pathology and tropical diseases.

Also appointed to the School of Medicine were Dr. Eugene Cronkite, associate in medicine, who received a Naval commendation for his work as a hematologist at Operations Crossroads; Dr. Leslie Van Dyke Dill, adjunct clinical professor in obstetric gynecology, who was formerly on the staff of Cornell University; and Dr. James P. Murphy, clinical instructor in neurological surgery.

Columbian College appointments include two in the Department of Economics: assistant professor, Dr. Paul E. Hanehett, Phi Beta Kappa member formerly on the staff of the University of Minnesota; and Dr. Edwin Fitch, lecturer in economics. Dr. Fitch, a former Rhodes Scholar, has previously taught at New York University and the University of South Dakota.

Other appointments to the Columbian College staff were Cowans Smith as instructor in English and Dr. Walter J. Mueller as a lecturer in German.

New appointments to the School of Pharmacy are Arthur E. Jones, instructor in Pharmacy, and Winogene N. McIntyer, research associate in pharmacy.

Canterbury Club Features Speakers; Clarifies Teachings

• HAVING FOR ITS purpose the strengthening of personal faith and direction of knowledge toward a well-adjusted life, the Canterbury Club of the University presents to its Episcopal students programs designed to clarify the teachings of Christ.

In order to give an adult interpretation of these teachings, the club introduces prominent leaders in various fields to show how Christianity has influenced and guided them in their professions.

At the same time, the club attempts to add to the student's knowledge of the Episcopal Church and thus establish with him the basis for faith that may help him reach a reasonable degree of happiness in his life.

To augment this, members have recently studied the questions of "A Basis for Union between the Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches," "The Atom Bomb and Its Challenge to Christianity," "The Racial Question," and "The History of the Bible."

In another part of the regular program, the members enjoy barn dances, house parties, and, in the spring and fall, hayrides with songs, dancing, and weiner roasts.

Sponsoring the Canterbury Club and supervising the planning of programs is an ex-Naval commander, John R. Stevens, who is now a student at the Virginia Theological Seminary.

Meetings of the club are held every Sunday evening from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. at St. John's Parish Hall, 819 Sixteenth Street, N. W.

Phi Sigs Revive Freshman Award

• FOR THE FIRST TIME since 1941, the annual Phi Sigma Kappa silver cup for freshman oratory will be presented at a contest to be held in Lisner Auditorium on May 1.

Any freshman may enter this contest with a speech five to six minutes long on a subject of current interest.

Contestants should contact Professor L. P. Leggett of the Speech Department before Thursday.

No award will be presented if fewer than six contestants appear.

Phi Sigma Sigma Sponsors Carnival For Hospital Fund

• PHI SIGMA SIGMA sorority has planned a Carnival to be held in the gym April 24. The proceeds of the affair will go toward the Hospital Fund.

There will be numerous booths which will offer among other things, roulette wheels and fortune-telling. Music, for dancing will be presented during the evening. A door prize of a savings bond will be awarded and favors from the various department stores will be given out.

One of the highlights of the evening will be a dedication dance, when the alama maters of the District sororities and fraternities will be played and only members will be permitted to dance to their respective songs.

There will be an admission price of 50 cents per person.

Fellows Discusses Plans In Ethiopia

• "PLANNING IMPROVEMENTS in Ethiopia" will be the topic of a speech to be delivered by Mr. Perry A. Fellows of the War Assets Administration at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow night in Government 1.

Kodachrome slides, showing the country's present conditions, will be used to illustrate the lecture.

Educators Discuss Religion

Speakers Suggest Prejudice Blocks Success In Life

• "ARE YOU SURE you will succeed?" was the topic of the panel discussion held by the Religious Council last Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in Lisner Auditorium.

Dr. Francis J. Brown, Executive Secretary of the President's Committee on Higher Education, spoke on "Building Intergroup Activities." He said that while education and economic study does eliminate some prejudice, further action must be taken through an appreciation of the arts and an understanding of character, and through activities in which everyone can participate.

Dr. John Cooper, Director of the Department of Anthropology at Catholic University, spoke on "The Scientific Background of Human Brotherhood." He maintained that although different peoples of the world vary in their customs and habits, these are trivial variations compared with the basic similarities characteristic of all races.

Dr. Julius Schreiber, Director of the National Institute of Social Relations, Inc., spoke on "Can Anything Really Be Done About Prejudices?" Dr. Schreiber claimed that prejudice was derived from ignorance, to begin with, and is retained because of a feeling of insecurity on the part of the individual.

Persons who work against prejudice should possess the proper information to combat ignorance, should have enough conviction to set an example, and should be individuals of integrity and courage in order to move and act, Dr. Schreiber said.

A general discussion with questions from the audience followed the lectures.

policy on the shoulders of only one person.

The duties of the managing editor cover handling all the news in the paper, along with the business management of the paper, while the two associate editors manage the editorial page, letters to the editors, features, and pictures, according to the suggested plan.

Included in the qualifications for editor-in-chief are that he has served two years on the editorial staff of the paper, that he has served at least one year as an associate editor or managing editor, and that he be nominated to his post by a vote of the editorial staff.

Nomination by a vote of the editorial staff is also a factor in the choosing of the associate editors and the managing editor in the plan presented by the committee.

In regard to grievance machinery, the report suggests the following procedure: "In the event any student, faculty member or anyone else should feel that he has a grievance against the paper or any member of its staff, he may file a written complaint with the Publications Committee. The committee may dismiss the complaint or, if it has merit, conduct whatever investigation is deemed advisable, and then, by a two-thirds vote, taken at a meeting of the entire committee, recommend appropriate disciplinary action. If the recommended action involves the demotion, suspension or dismissal of a member of the editorial or business staff of the paper, however, it shall be subject to review by at least three members of the journalism faculty before being sent to the University President and the Board of Trustees."

Presidential Candidates Outline Plans For Council

By GERRY LIEBLICH And RAY GLASSCOCK

● IN AN EFFORT to acquaint the students with the presidential candidates of the Student Council, The Hatchet has interviewed each of the three candidates. We print here the results of these interviews and hope that they will help to serve you in deciding your vote.

● JERRY BRASTOW, running independently, wants to see "a council working conscientiously for the good of the entire student body."

"The time when a Council can get itself into office, and once having obtained the prestige, relax for the tenure of office, should certainly have passed long ago. I know the Student Body is anxious to see a Council which will get away from the idea of appointing friends, log-rolling, and indulging in all the other customary political practices."

Brastow feels that the Council should be an effective liaison between the Student Body and the Administration. "I believe the Council should make every effort to determine the feeling of the Student Body, then lay the facts before the administration in an effort to obtain corrective action."

"My idea of an effective council," he continued, "is one which can co-ordinate student activities in such a way that they work efficiently together—rather than grasp at each other's throats. This is the only way in which we can become a real student body with a real student life."

"As to definite promises such as pencil sharpeners in every class room, and phone booths on every floor, I'd rather leave such campaign planks to others. Personally, I prefer to, pledge my support to sounding out the student body on its wishes, and working diligently to obtain for the student body those things which it wants."

"Bland promises have no place in a campaign, however, and campaign promises which can't be kept should not be made. I will, if elected, assume office with the intention of doing everything possible for the student body, working at all times as its duly elected representative."

"Certainly I shall make it a point," Brastow said, "to see that all appointive offices such as Student Life Committee and Publications Committee are filled on a basis of merit, and not through party affiliations."

"Some of the specific points I would like to see effected are more outlets for student opinion, through opinion polls and boxes; improved food and recreational facilities; and a fuller social program, more within the interests of the students."

Regarding the activity fee, proposed several months ago, Brastow told us that he's highly in favor of it. "The activity fee would provide a source of funds to give the student body a really full extra-curricular program. Carrying through the student union plans, enhancing the sports program, and developing a free cultural program for the students would all be possible with the activity fee."

• FREMONT JEWELL, the All-University Party's candidate for president, promises "cooperation of the Student Council members and better representation of the student body."

Jewell feels that the Student Council could be "a real force in student activities and I think we have the people and cooperation to exert this force for the benefit of the students."

"We will work toward improving student facilities and establishing a student union. We hope to improve relations among the many student organizations, and more closely integrate the life and activities of all students attending the University. We are particularly interested in bettering such Council-sponsored activities as the Student Book Exchange which we feel has been neglected."

He believes that the people running on the All-University Ticket will serve together as a coordinated body, and will therefore be able to serve the students more efficiently.

"I contend," he stated, "that the position of president requires a disciplined, logical, orderly mind not given to jumping to conclusions. These are good qualifications for any executive, and qualications which I feel my educational background enables me to offer to the students."

• LARRY WOODWARD, presidential candidate on the "Honest George" Party's ticket, bases his platform on "a student government for the students."

"My aims are, I think, things (See CANDIDATES, Page 8).

ALL-U PARTY

• THE CANDIDATES appearing on this page for positions on the Student Council of the University have agreed on the following platform:

1. Reform student government to more accurately represent the opinions of the entire student body; conduct opinion polls on controversial issues; create a student advisory board representing all divisions of the University; provide more accessible polling places; and a more democratic recall mechanism to replace Student Council members.
2. Use Existing Facilities Efficiently: press for more study rooms; better balancing of class schedules; opening of Student Club on Saturday and longer hours during the week; and more all-University social affairs at a lower price range.
3. Improve Facilities: investigate possibilities for a more efficient student book exchange; improved quality of food in the Student Club; more telephone booths, pencil sharpeners, inkwells and water coolers; cleaner and better equipped rest rooms; a freshman orientation program and advisory system for all students; and action on the Student Union.
4. Further the Publications System: Distribute University Handbook free at time of registration; publish weekly calendar of events, minutes of the Student Council, and expenditures of the Student Council and other student activities supported by the University.
5. Urge veterans housing development on unimproved property owned by the University.

Panhellenic Sets Plans For Dance

THE ANNUAL Panhellenic dance will be held this Thursday night, Mary Alice Novinger, president of the Panhellenic Association, announced this week. The dance will be semi-formal and will be held in the West Ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel.

Music will be furnished by Jack Morton and his orchestra. The dance is being sponsored by Panhel and will feature the tapping of members for Delphi, national honorary sorority, and the presentation of the various scholarship awards.

Dean Koenig, dean of the Junior College, acting as master of ceremonies, will award a cup to the pledge class of October through February having the highest scholastic average.

A scholarship cup will also be awarded to the senior woman with the highest average for four years.

A third cup will be awarded to the sorority which maintained the highest scholastic average through February of 1946 to February of 1947.

Panhellenic keys will be presented to the senior Panhel delegates of this year.

Frenchman Speaks Before Organization

JACQUES MARTHENET, son of the French military attaché, spoke at the joint meeting of the elementary and advanced French clubs last Thursday, in Columbian House at 4 p.m.

Seniors To Apply For Graduation

STUDENTS who plan to graduate or receive A. A. degrees at the end of this semester must make application at the Registrar's Office in Building C immediately, Registrar Burnice Jarman advises.

Seminar Group Holds Forum On UN Growth

THE WORLD AFFAIRS Committee of the World Government Seminar will present a round-table discussion and forum on "The United Nations: A Step Forward Toward International Maturity" tomorrow night at 8:00 p.m. in Government 402. All students are invited to participate in the public discussion.

Boleslaw Leitgeber, former Polish diplomat-journalist now acting as liaison officer in the United Nations Washington Information Office, will answer questions by members of the Affairs Committee during the first part of the program. Principal subjects will be the World Court, the veto power, specialized agencies of the United Nations, and police power.

Following the round-table part of the program will be a general discussion in which members of the audience may question Mr. Leitgeber and Committee members, or may comment upon points under discussion.

Famous Hula Star Appears In Lisner 'Hawaiian Night'

By ELIZABETH LOGAN

PRESENCE IN WASHINGTON of Pualani, noted as one of the most beautiful women in Hawaii and considered to be the finest hula dancer in the world, and the probability that Hawaii will be our newest state, were the inspirations for "Hawaiian Night," to be held at Lisner Auditorium April 26.

"When I was very young in Oahu, where I was born," says Pualani, "my father was a well-known ukelele maker. One day he had a vision which showed him what was his mission—to restore the ancient customs of Hawaii that were fast disappearing. He immediately began building that which is the dearest thing to his heart, Lanani Village, on Waikiki Beach."

In this village, which consists of grass huts, made as the ancient Hawaiians made them, Pualani and her sister taught the natives the ancient Hawaiian dances. "My pupils," Pualani laughed, "ranged in age from 2½ to 72 years."

Pualani, before coming to Washington, was in the cast of "Hellzapoppin'" in New York, and danced professionally at the Hawaiian Room at the Lexington Hotel in New York.

Ten girls, chosen by Miss Burtner, director of dance at the University, are now being trained by Pualani to do three native dances; an uninterpretable hula; "Little Brown Gal," which is interpretive and Kawika, an ancient dance dedicated to the last king of Hawaii.

which can be carried out with the cooperation of the Student Council," Woodward said. "However, I don't intend to make any rash promises which can't be kept."

"Some of the things I think can be safely promised," Woodward continued, "include a policy of encouragement of independent activities on campus; appointments on a basis of merit alone; closer cooperation and coordination between activities, open elections for Student Council and class officers, and an 'Honest George' policy."

Woodward elaborated on the "Honest George" policy, explaining that it covers inspection of local restaurants for sanitary facilities, fair prices, and wholesome food. This idea originated, he said, at the University of California, where it worked with great success. Those restaurants meeting the qualifications would be issued "Honest George" stickers.

"One of the difficulties facing the Council this year," Woodward said, "was the length of time necessary to acquaint themselves with their duties. After serving for a year on the Council, I've had occasion to become familiar with the work each person should perform, which should enable us to begin work at once on the problems facing us."

Woodward feels that his four years of student government work here and at other schools will give him a useful background for the presidency of the Council.

"I believe if elected I will be able to work efficiently with the members of the Council and for the student body in their best interests," Woodward concluded.

First Women Visit Antarctic Polar Regions

ONE OF THE FIRST two women to arrive at the Antarctic Continent will be Mrs. Finn Ronne, 1940 University graduate, who is accompanying her husband on the Ronne expedition this winter.

Mrs. Ronne, formerly Edith Maslin, is the wife of Commander Finn Ronne, whose expedition is now embarking from Beaumont, Texas. She will assist the expedition in the capacity of assistant scientist and expedition recorder.

Sharing the distinction of being the first women at the Antarctic with Mrs. Ronne is Mrs. Harry Darlington, wife of the expedition's chief pilot.

While attending the University, Mrs. Ronne was a member of Phi Mu Sorority, the Hatchet staff, of the Junior Club. Upon her graduation she became a member of the American Association of University Women.

JEAN DIFFENDERFER

Fraternity Crowns Jean Diffenderfer

• HIGHLIGHT OF the Pi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl Dance, held last Wednesday in the Federal Room of the Statler Hotel, was the crowning of Jean Diffenderfer of Kappa Kappa Gamma, as Dream Girl for the coming year.

The Dream Girls of the past three years, Margery Brown Campbell, Barbara Hanby and Milissa Wilson, were presented at the time Miss Diffenderfer was crowned.

Dick Johnson, social chairman of Pi Kappa Alpha, was master of ceremonies, and Jack Lapham, vice president, presented Miss Diffenderfer with a silver compact.

Law School Dinner Honors Frankfurter

• ANNUAL DINNER of the Law Review will be held April 27 at the Hotel Broadmoor. Professor Davidson of the Law School has announced. Mr. Justice Frankfurter will be the guest of honor.

SAE Wins Award In IFC Sing

Dr. Robert Harmon Serves As Emcee; Kappas Sing Again

• FIRST PRIZE at the Interfraternity Council Sing on April 2 was awarded to Sigma Alpha Epsilon for its rendition of "Hail to the Purple" and "The Rosary."

Sigma Nu, singing "The Anniversary Song" and "White Star of Sigma Nu," received the second prize, while third prize went to Kappa Sigma, which presented "Old Man River" and "In the Fading Light."

Charles Baker, director of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon group, received the winner's cup from Pat Calloway, director of the Kappa Kappa Gamma group, winner of the Panhellenic sing.

Allan Whilden directed the Sigma Nu group and Jerry Brastow directed the Kappa Sigmas.

An additional feature at the IFC Sing was the singing of "Temptation" and "Kappa Lullaby" by the Kappa Kappa Gammas.

Master of ceremonies at the Sing was Dr. Robert Harmon, director of the University Glee Clubs. Judges were Jean Bordman, president of the Washington Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Singing in America, Inc.; J. Horace Smithy, director of the Chevy Chase Chanters; and Robert Davidson, director of the Chesapeake and Potomac Mens Glee Club.

Foreign Service Board Starts On World Tour

• DR. A. REX JOHNSON, professional lecturer in marketing and assistant director of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations of the Department of Agriculture, left Washington recently as a member of the United States Foreign Service Board of Examiners. Traveling by air, the board will depart from San Francisco and will conduct examinations during the next two months in Honolulu, Manila, Tokyo, Shanghai, Bombay, Calcutta, Cairo, Rome, Munich, Frankfurt, Berlin, Paris, and Brussels. All examinations will be conducted by the full panel of five members.

Because only foreign service officers of permanent status will continue work after July 1, the Examining Board is being sent abroad to determine qualifications of officers wishing permanent appointments.

During the war, many temporary appointments of agricultural, commercial, and other technicians were made in the higher officer brackets by the State Department and it has now been determined that their continued services are necessary.

The examining panel will be comprised of Dr. Johnson, Dr. Joseph C. Green, executive director of the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service, Wayne Chatfield Taylor, former Undersecretary of Commerce, and Frederick W. Brown, formerly of the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Nathaniel P. Davis, counselor of the Embassy at Manila, will join the group in Manila.

Dr. Johnson was formerly professor of marketing at Brigham Young University, president of the Washington Chapter of the American Marketing Association, alternate on the Board of the Foreign Service of the United States, and a member of several other boards and committees connected with international relations.

School Band Sets Banquet, Elections

• THE ANNUAL BAND Banquet will be held this year on May 4 at 6:00 p.m. announced Jimmy Jean Cantrell, vice president of the band.

The dinner will be held at Allison's Little Tea House in Arlington, and will feature the presentation of various awards. Director Brusloff will present a cup to the person who has done outstanding work for the band. Band sweaters will also be awarded at this time.

Diamondmen Defeat American U. 14-5

TAKE IT FROM ME

BY EDDIE SHAPIRO

• SATURDAY AFTERNOON the 1947 edition of the Colonial baseball squad will take the field on the Hilltop in the first of two games scheduled this season against their traditional rivals, Georgetown.

To date the Colonials have made two home appearances, against Dartmouth and American U. These contests were the first played by a University baseball team against college competition since 1942, and the results were better than even the most faithful Colonial fans expected.

With this year's team promising to be one of the finest in Colonial diamond history, and with the sport returning to the campus after a long absence due to the war, it seems only reasonable to expect the students to get out and support the men who are carrying the University's colors. But, as usual, with an air of complacency, the student body has chosen to ignore its team.

Visitors Show Better Spirit

When the American U. Eagles visited our diamond last Saturday, Colonial fans seemed to be in the minority as the visitors' supporters thronged to the Ellipse and not only outnumbered, but also out-yelled the Colonial fans—even though the Eagles were far behind throughout most of the contest.

This complete lack of enthusiasm on the part of our student body is nothing new. The story is an old one, but one which certainly must be changed. This University's athletic teams are rapidly gaining in prestige through their many outstanding performances, fine sportsmanship, and great competitive spirit. On the other hand the student body, by its complete indifference, is showing that it doesn't want better teams, that it isn't proud of the records which its teams are turning in, and that a little school spirit is to be considered childish and below the level of the college student. Such an attitude is truly disgraceful.

Students Should Decide Program's Fate

If there is ever to be an improvement in spirit at this University, the time is now. There is no use in going ahead with plans for an expanding program which this University is now formulating if the students do not want this expansion. If such is the case, I believe that the student body should express itself accordingly to its Student Council, and that the University should abandon intercollegiate athletics completely. After all, the University's athletic program is for the students, and when the students lose interest in the program, it is no longer serving its main purpose and should be abandoned.

Scalped In Opener By Indians

Hoyas, Quantico To Provide Tests For Colonial Team

• WITH TWO WINS and a loss under their belts, the Colonial diamondmen dig further into their schedule this week for three games. Yesterday they were hosts to Ft. Belvoir at the South Ellipse in a game which was played too late to be reported in this issue. Thursday the Colonials journey to Quantico for a tilt with the Marines, and Saturday they meet their old rival, Georgetown, at the Hilltop field.

The Hoyas will probably furnish the Buffmen with their toughest test so far this season. After a slow start, the Georgetown nine has come along to register four victories in a row, all by lop-sided scores, and have turned out to be a hard hitting aggregation.

Citrenbaum Injured

It is doubtful that center-fielder Bunny Citrenbaum will be able to see action this week. The speedy freshman pulled a leg muscle in practice last week and was out of action until the Saturday contest with American U. Then, after hitting a double, he reinjured his leg scoring from second base on an infield hit.

In the season's opener, the Buff and Blue were turned back by Dartmouth, 6-2. They bounced back against Ft. Belvoir to win an 11-2 decision. Last Saturday, the Colonials turned on the power to swamp American U. 14-5.

Meeting Dartmouth on the third day they had been able to get outdoors, the Colonial nine showed their lack of hitting practice by collecting only three blows. Don Druckenmiller accounted for two of these hits with a double and a single. His fourth inning single accounted for both Colonial tallies.

• BERNIE GOOD, Colonial first sacker, stretches for a throw which was too late to nip Joe Hossick of American U. in the fifth inning of last Saturday's game on the South Ellipse. Despite Hossick's hit the Eagles bowed to the Colonials 14-5.

Against Ft. Belvoir, the Buffmen brightened up in the hitting department, garnering nine hits off three opposing pitchers, while Phil King and Pete Labukas were holding the soldiers to six blows.

King's southpaw slants completely baffled the soldiers, and Labukas' entry into the game as a relief hurler proved to be anything but a relief to them as he struck out five of the first nine men who faced him, and, throwing a nice assortment (See DIAMONDMEN, Page 16)

Doidge, Harpster Attend Women's Athletic Meeting

• JANET DOIDGE, President of the Women's Recreational Association, and Lynn Harpster, softball manager, will represent the University at the Women's Athletic Convention to be held in Greensboro, North Carolina, April 18-20.

The convention marks the first meeting of the physical educators since the outbreak of the war. Delegates from college athletic organizations all over the country will attend.

Annual Track Meet Set For Saturday

All Events At Central Stadium

Experience Favors Defending Champs, Theta Delta Chi

By "SKIP" FOSTER

CINDER ENTHUSIASTS are praying for fair weather and a fast track when the starter's gun begins the second annual Intramural Track and Field Meet this Saturday, April 19, at 1:30 p.m. at Central High School stadium.

With twelve events comprising the program, this season's meeting will probably be the biggest track and field meet ever held at this University, surpassing last year's meet, which was held at the Western High School stadium and won by the Theta Delta Chi squad.

Little is actually known of the potentialities of the teams and individuals who have entered for this year's meet. Most of the participants are rather inexperienced but a possible favorite would be Dino Brugioni, who placed first in last year's tournament in the fifty and hundred yard dashes with a time of 6.8 seconds for the fifty and 10.8 for the hundred.

This year, in addition to an All-Track Award Trophy which will be presented to the team winning the meet, each individual winner will be presented with an award. The

Sports Schedule

April 15—Golf at Georgetown
April 16—Tennis at Navy
—Sailing, Georgetown and Navy, at Navy
April 17—Baseball, Quantico Marines, at Quantico.
—Golf at Virginia Military Institute
April 18—Golf at Washington and Lee
April 19—Tennis at Georgetown
—Baseball at Georgetown

following point system will be used to determine team championship: first place five points; second place three points; third place two points; and fourth place one point.

All track teams and individuals wishing to compete should fill out registration forms for all events by Friday 2:00 p.m. Entry blanks should be given to Joe Krupa, Director of Intramural Athletics, at the intramural office, 2027 H Street.

Winners of events will compete on May 4 at the Georgetown track in the District Extramural Track and Field Meet. Teams from American U., Gallaudet, Maryland, and Georgetown will also be entered in the meet.

The following events will be held Saturday:

Track—50 yard; 100 yard dash; 220 yard run; 440 yard run; 880 yard run; 1-mile run; ½ mile relay (220 ea; 4 men); 400 yard Football Dummy Relay (100 yards ea; 4 men).

Field—Shot Put (12 lb.), high jump; broad jump; baseball throw for distance.

Cornell Netmen Trim Buff

By JERRY LESSUK

FACING AN EXPERIENCED and well drilled tennis team from Cornell University, the Colonial netmen were defeated by a score of 9 to 0 last Tuesday at the Kenwood Country Club.

The Cornell tennis team was represented by such outstanding individuals as Dick Savitt, who is the fifth ranking collegiate net star in the East, Leonard Steiner, National Junior Indoor Champion, and John Rihliloma, the Bermuda Champion. The Big Red team had vanquished American U. by a score of 8 to 1 the previous day.

Only Colonial performer able to extend his opponent was Bill Helfrich who carried his man to three sets before losing the match 4-6, 6-4, 4-6.

The University tennis team was represented by Harry Ong, Morgan Jacob, Hight DeLoch, Gene Fry, Bob Chreshenbaum, Ben Dean Curtis Ledford, Don Nelson, Jack Martin, Jim Leavy, and Helfrich.

Practice is being held at the Odell Tennis Club, Columbia Pike, Va., in preparation for the match against the Naval Academy tomorrow at Annapolis.

Jack Wheatley Shows Promise As Hurler

By LARRY INGRAM

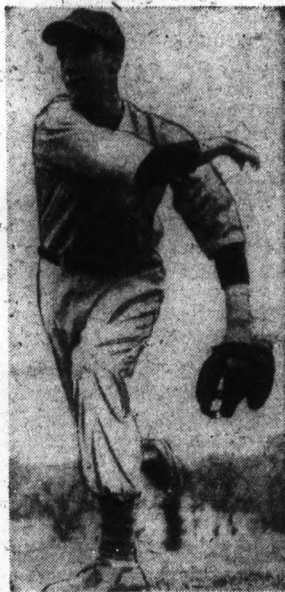

ONE OF THE outstanding hurlers on this year's Colonial nine, is Jack Wheatley, a twenty-year old restaurant for sanitary facilities, freshman from Alexandria.

Returning to the pitching rubber for the first time in two years, the big right-hander is showing that he has lost none of the stuff that landed him a starting berth on George Washington High School's varsity for three years and earned him a tryout with the Washington Senators in 1943.

After graduation in 1945, Wheatley was inducted into the army. During his 18 months with the 709th Military Police Battalion in Germany, he did not have a chance to lay a hand on a baseball.

Wheatley was discharged in January of this year, just in time to enroll at the University for the spring semester. He lost no time reporting when the call went out for baseball practice, and has since been hard at work getting his arm back in shape.

Chosen to hurl the opening game against Dartmouth, the quiet, steady moundsman gave up only two hits and one run in the five innings he worked. Starting against American University last Saturday, he allowed two hits and no runs in four innings and was credited with the win. His record of four hits and one run allowed in nine Innings stands out as a good early-season record.

Wheatley's favorite pitch is his fast ball, although he also has a sharp-breaking curve which he first used to any extent against American U. Both are thrown with an overhand motion.

Women Natators To Vie In Annual Swim Meet

By VIRGINIA MYERS

• THE ANNUAL SWIMMING meet, open to all women of the University, will be held Wednesday night, April 23 at 8:00 p. m. in the Y. W. C. A. pool, Seventeenth and K. Streets, N. W.

The schedule of events, including the usual 40-yard events in free-style, back crawl and breast stroke, has been planned, and also form contests in diving, elementary backstroke, back and front crawl, side and breast strokes have been included. In the final scoring, form and speed competitions will be valued equally. There will be a 60-yard medley of the breast, back, and free-style strokes and an 80-yard free-style relay which, as usual, promises stiff contention between the sororities and independents. The events in form stroking will be judged on a basis of ten points for correctness of form and style in which the stroke is executed.

All contestants who have not had a medical examination for the school must arrange for one with Dr. Kahler, the school physician, any day between 1:00 and 5:00 p.m., or Saturday from 11:00 to 12:00 noon.

A minimum of five practices, no two on the same day, are also necessary.

No girl may enter more than four form and speed events or more than three racing competitions. Lists of the events are posted in Building H and girls must sign up by Tuesday night, April 22.

For further information call Virginia Myers, swimming manager, at Strong Hall, ME 5322.

Officers Elected

• ANNOUNCEMENT of the newly elected board members of the Women's Recreational Association was made last week by Sue Berger, retiring president. The new officers are: Janet Doidge, president; Virginia Myers, vice president; Joan Brannon, recording secretary; Pat Calloway, corresponding secretary; and Sally Barrow, treasurer.

Handball Tourney To Open Friday

• THE FIRST ROUND of the all-University Handball Tournament has been scheduled for Friday, April 18, in the gymnasium.

Competing in this year's contest will be eighteen top-flight court artists who have been paired by seedings.

The contest is being held on an elimination basis with the winner having to take two out of three matches.

TOM COLEMAN

Coleman Named Publicity Director As Duncan Leaves

• TOM COLEMAN, student at the University, has assumed the post of Acting Director of Sports Publicity replacing Bob Duncan whose resignation, effective today, has been accepted by University officials.

Coleman has assisted Duncan at various times in the past, and has acted as Director of Sports Publicity for the past two weeks.

Colonial Golfers Down Western Maryland 9-0

By BERNIE LEVIN

• OUTDRIVING AND OUTPUTTING an inexperienced Western Maryland team, the Colonial golfers swept to a 9-0 victory in their first intercollegiate match of the season last Tuesday on the Kenwood Country Club course.

Led by Captain Bill Griffen, who defeated the Green Terror's top man, Bright, the Buffmen were never threatened; only two matches went past the 15th green.

Griffen and his teammate, Dave Wortman, were back to their pre-war form, both posting excellent scores. Also showing fine early season form were Jay Wolf, Doug Jackson, Paul Temple, and Johnny Murphy.

Temple provided one of the surprises of the match with his easy victory over Phillips of Western Maryland. Playing in the number five slot, Temple clinched his win on the 12th hole.

The outlook for the season seems to be a hopeful one as far as Faculty Supervisor William Meyers is concerned. However, he warns that "the perennially strong teams of the Southern Conference will probably offer stiffer competition, and continued hard work by the team will be necessary."

The results of the Western Maryland match follow: Griffen defeated Bright, 5 and 4; Jackson defeated Jacobson, 4 and 3; best ball G. W., 5 and 4.

Wortman defeated Holloway, 2 and 1; Wolf defeated Sibiski, 4 and 3; best ball G. W., 4 and 3.

Temple defeated Phillips, 7 and 6; Murphy defeated Mendel, 2 and 1; best ball G. W., 5 and 4.

Helmsmen Outsailed By Navy

• THE NAVY's 26-foot knockabouts proved too much for the University's sailing team Easter Sunday at Annapolis, as the Middies finished first in a three-way regatta with 92 points. Stevens was second with 72, and the University team, scoring 65 points, was third. Lehigh and Drexel finished with 53 and 43 points, respectively.

Pete Jefferson of Navy took individual honors with 50 points, and Bill Hastings led the Colonials with 19.

Two regattas were originally scheduled, but 55 mile per hour winds forced cancellation of the April 5 affair after the first race. The Colonials were holding an 11 point lead at the time.

A slight let-up in the wind permitted the use of the International 14-foot Dinghies Easter Sunday, and after two races the Buff and Blue was tied with Navy at 42-all, when the local windspeed indicators again hit the 50 mph mark and the teams shifted to the larger 26-foot boats. Not accustomed to the knockabouts, the Colonials failed to show after that, and only added 23 points to their score in the last three heats.

Another chapter in the George Washington-Georgetown rivalry will be added April 16 when the Naval Academy plays host in an informal three-way regatta using the International Dinghies.

ment of curves, knuckle balls, and a few fast ones, he finished out the contest in a breeze.

Hitting honors were well divided, with King the only Colonial who collected two hits.

Loosing a twelve-hit attack against a quartet of pitchers, the Colonials turned the American U. game into a rout. Charles Hinbaugh played an errorless game at second base, led the hitting with a triple and two singles, scored three runs, and drove in three tallies.

Druckenmiller continued his hitting streak by banging out a triple and a single. He now boasts the club's top batting average of .555. First baseman Bernie Good contributed two doubles to the attack.

Wheatley started on the mound for the Buff, and received credit for the victory, as he let the Eagles down with two hits and one unearned run in his four inning stint. Cubitt, who relieved him in the fifth, gave up five hits in a creditable performance, although he weakened in the last two innings, allowing four runs, three of them earned.

doubtful distinction of having the biggest feet on the baseball squad, keeps in shape during the summer by playing sandlot ball. He has performed in the Alexandria City League and this year hopes to go in the Industrial League.

Proving that this still remains a small world, Wheatley finds himself now pitching to an old rival, Don Druckenmiller, who played against him several times when a member of the Washington and Lee High School nine.
